Primary schools grow as demand increases

NEW primary school places are to be created in Newmarket to cope with demand.

Suffolk County Council chiefs voted yesterday to spend £4 million creating 95 new places at seven schools in West Suffolk, including Houldsworth Valley Primary School in Newmarket and Exning Primary School.

Exning Primary will take on 10 more pupils next year and Houldsworth Valley will increase its intake by 15.

The announcement comes after the Local Government Association (LGA) expressed concern about the "unprecedented" demand for places, which could see two pupils fighting over every place by 2015.

Cllr Lisa Chambers, cabinet member for education, said after the meeting: "I am really pleased. We have had the national figures recently which say there is a shortage of primary school places but Suffolk has been meeting about this for a period of time.

"The cabinet has been looking at the numbers in Suffolk and making sure we have the right number of places going forward, particularly in Forest Heath where we know there is a need.

"The amazing thing for Newmarket is we are not just planning for this year or next year. We know there is capacity at Houldsworth Valley Primary to increase places up to 2018."

Houldsworth Valley Primary has already expanded with the gain of Year 6 classes in the last two years and admissions could increase to 60 from next September, if the need is there, says headteacher Sharon FitzGerald.

She said: "As a school we're committed to providing the very best educational experiences and securing high standards of education for our pupils. We're both delighted and excited about the growth of our school and we feel privileged to be extending our excellent provision and welcoming a greater number of pupils. The plans for expansion will extend and enhance our existing safe, stimulating and supportive learning environment."

James Clark, head of Exning Primary School, said the investment was good but his school has already been accepting 30 extra pupils a year rather than its prescribed 20.

He said: "Because of the situation we have had to take in more than we originally planned. So the children they are talking about are already here."

"There is a big shortage across the county and nationally. I think a lot of this is due to the Government pushing free schools at secondary level rather than putting the money into schools that are already there."

Other schools due for expansion include Great Heath Primary, in Mildenhall, and St Christopher's Primary School, Red Lodge.

The new places will take effect from September 2014.

PROUD warriors will perform a riotous show in a village church. The Osiligi Maasai warrior troupe is calling in at St Mary's Church, Burwell, on October 8, as part of a tour raising money for their community in Kenya.

A spokeswoman said the troupe's performance was "a sensation to watch". Tickets cost £10 for adults and £5 for children, from CentrePeace or the Post Office, both in The Causeway, or Tina's, in North Street, Burwell.

IN BLOOM: Gardener Vivienne Ettridge tends to the flowers at the Dahlia Festival.

Picture by Warren Gunn

Last of summer sun on show at festival

EXPLOSIONS of colour filled a house and gardens at the first day of an annual floral festival.

Anglesey Abbey showed off its autumn colours at its Dahlia Festival this week as the National Trust property opened its Dahlia Garden to the public.

Visitors dropped into the unique garden, near Lode, to watch the Abbey's garden team in action and get some top tips.

The Dahlia Garden was established by Lord Fairhaven, who loved the flamboyant flowers.

Horticultural fans can find out a little more about his life through the dahlia arrangements in the house.

The festival runs until Sunday, September 15, with tours of the garden from 11am to 12.30pm and 2.30pm to 4pm.

For more information go to www.nationaltrust.org.uk/anglesey-abbey.

Support for fire victim's family

OVERWHELMING levels of support have been shown for the family of a woman who died in a fire at her home.

The blaze on August 31 in Hawthorn Way, Burwell, claimed the life of 35-year-old Miranda Drew, who suffered from multiple sclerosis.

Villagers have banded together to show their support for her partner Graham Chellis and three-year-old daughter Chantelle who have lost all their possessions in the devastating fire.

Neighbours made a list of everything the father and daughter might need and used Facebook to organise a collection, ranging from clothes and furniture to cleaning materials.

■ LIZZY BUCHAN

Charlie Fryer, one of the organisers, said: "We now have everything apart from wardrobes off this list, thanks to everyone who has been in touch and dropped off so many items so quickly tonight."

"It's been an amazing response. We need a few cleaning bits, but otherwise we're all sorted for now. Thanks everyone."

Rev Eleanor Williams, vicar of St Mary's Church, Burwell, said the response to the tragedy had been "moving".

Writing on a social networking site, she said: "It's been quite remarkable, and very moving, to see over the last 24 hours or so the overwhelming outpouring of support and practical help for the family who lost everything in the fire."

Hazel Wilson said: "We have some truly lovely caring people in this village. Wonderful."

Karen Hubbard added: "It reminds me why I love living in this village."

Financial donations can be made at The Fox pub and Tina's, both in North Street, or Barclays Bank, in Parsonage Lane.

The Fox pub is still accepting items for donation, such as clothes and toys.

An inquest held on Monday, gave the cause of death provisionally as fire-related suffocation and severe burn injuries.

A resumed inquest will be held on December 18.

Man charged for pole assault on teen

A MAN has been charged for a serious assault on a teenager.

Marcus Smy, 21, of Laceys Lane, Exning, was charged with grievous bodily harm following an incident on September 4 where a 16-year-old boy was struck on the head with a pole in Ipswich. The victim sustained a serious head injury.

Smy appeared at Ipswich Magistrates Court on September

7 where magistrates decided to send his case to the crown court. He was remanded in custody until his appearance at Ipswich Crown Court on September 17 at 10am.

'He left him looking like a road accident victim'

■ LIZZY BUCHAN

A RIDER for the Queen's Newmarket-based trainer has been jailed for a vicious attack on an ex-jockey which left him looking like a "victim of a road traffic accident".

Jonathan Nolan, a work rider for royal trainer Sir Michael Stoute, battered John Maxse so severely that he was so covered in Mr Maxse's blood police thought he himself was the victim.

Judge Rupert Overbury jailed him for four years at Ipswich Crown Court last Week, after he admitted grievous bodily harm with intent at a previous hearing.

He said: "You carried out a vicious, sustained and unprovoked attack. Simply by using your hands and feet you left Mr Maxse looking like the victim of a road traffic accident."

The court heard that Nolan, 32, of Skeaping Close, Newmarket, objected to Mr Maxse's friendship with his ex-girlfriend Genevieve Hippisley, who is the mother of Nolan's three-year-old daughter.

Prosecutor Richard Kelly described how Nolan found Mr Maxse at her home in Corsican Pine Close, Newmarket, at 11.30pm on July 21.

Mr Kelly said: "He strode past Miss Hippisley and said something like 'how could you or how dare you' before repeatedly punching Mr Maxse."

Miss Hippisley raised the alarm and police arrived to arrest Nolan at the scene.

Charles Myatt, mitigating, presented character references to the court, including one from Sir Michael's head trainer Tony Crombie.

He said: "Extreme emotions turned this otherwise placid, kind and non-violent man into somebody governed by a blind emotional rage.

"There is genuine and deep remorse borne out of a genuine feeling that Mr Maxse did not deserve in any shape or form to be victim of this attack."

Mr Maxse, former PR director at the Jockey Club and the British Horseracing Authority, was photographed with a black eye and cuts and bruises to his face following the incident.

The 45-year-old former jockey, who works as a communications consultant for Qatar Racing and is a work rider for Michael Bell, said on Twitter

Mr Maxse, who was not in court, posted a picture of himself in his hospital bed on Twitter, saying: "Today the person who did this to me is due in court for sentencing."

In a series of tweets, he said he had continued to suffer since the ordeal.

Nolan, who worked at Sir Michael's Freemason Lodge stables, in Newmarket, used to ride the Queen's horse Carlton House when it was trained there.

Your chance to question police chief

PUT your questions to the Police and Crime Commissioner at a meeting in Newmarket.

Suffolk PCC Tim Passmore will be hosting a public meeting for Forest Heath residents to air their concerns and find out more about policing.

He said: "Having direct contact with the people of Suffolk that I represent is extremely important to me.

"I make myself available to anyone who needs to speak to me through public meetings, one-to-one surgeries and directly via e-mail and on the phone, but it is equally important to have these bigger meetings where people can question me in a more open forum."

Mr Passmore added: "I do hope people will accept this invite to come and find out more about policing.

"Douglas Paxton, the Chief Constable, and I will be pleased to discuss any matter that arises."

Senior police officers from Forest Heath will be on hand to answer questions.

The audience will also be invited to have their say with the help of an interactive voting system.

The meeting starts at 6.30pm at Memorial Hall, in High Street, on October 14.

There is no need to book.

Assault charge

A MAN accused of assaulting his parents has appeared in court.

Nathan Gardner, 33, of Aster Close, Red Lodge, is charged with wounding his mother in Turnpike Road, Red Lodge, during the early hours of August 26 and with common assault of his father.

Gardner is due to appear at the same court on November 15.

Mower stolen

THIEVES made off with a ride-on lawn mower.

The green John Deere mower, worth £1,500, was taken from an outbuilding in a back garden in The Street, Barton Mills between 12pm Thursday, August 29 and 1pm on Monday, September 2.

Police believe the mower was wheeled out into the street and pushed a short distance, as a red five-gallon fuel can also belonging to the victim was found nearby.

Call police on 101.

LIFESAVERS: St John Ambulance volunteers John Carty and Paula Stairston teach CPR to Patrick O'Riordan, 8, of Newmarket

Shoppers learn how to save a life

LIFESAVERS took to the streets to show shoppers the importance of first aid.

St John Ambulance volunteers showed off their skills on Saturday at Asda, in Oaks Drive, Newmarket.

Paul Knighton, training and community projects manager in the East, said: "Learning first aid is one of the single most important things you can do in your life."

"You never know when you may need it – at work, at home, in school, playing sport – you just don't know."

"With basic first aid skills, anyone can be the difference between a life lost and a life saved and what could be more important than saving someone's life?"

Christmas lights may be extended through town

CHRISTMAS lights could extend into a number of new streets due to pressure from retailers.

Ideas for Christmas lights at the entrance to Rous Road, Old Station Road and the High Street beyond the Memorial Hall were discussed by Newmarket Town Council's leisure services committee at a meeting on Tuesday.

The Newmarket Retailers Association (NRA) has asked the council to consider extending the lights to encourage shoppers to venture to businesses in these side streets.

Isabelle Barrett, town clerk, said: "We have never done this before. We could do this quite cheaply by using the same lights we use on the High Street on Rous Road."

Cllr Peter Hulbert said: "I think it is a good idea as we sometimes forget some of the roads up there."

Kay Dawson, events manager for the town council, added: "Because we have events up at the Clock Tower over Christmas I think it would be nice."

Lights are also proposed for three trees outside Wildwood restaurant, in Rutland Hill.

Tolly Considine, owner of Tolly's Flowers, in Rous Road, said after the meeting: "I think it is an extremely good idea."

"They put some lights in two years ago in Sun Lane and I have been pushing them for the last two years for lights in Rous Road and Old Station Road where the retailers are."

"I suggested they go as far as Treasures in Rous Road as we have to be mindful of the residents too."

The committee decided to discuss the ideas at the next full town council meeting on September 23.

CRB checks under way for our volunteers

LETTERS are winging their way to volunteers this week as progress gets under way in our Let's Read campaign.

Newmarket College has begun the CRB check process and volunteers should be receiving information on how to fill in the appropriate paperwork for the checks.

Once the paperwork is complete, training sessions will be organised before volunteers can go into the seven participating primary schools in the town.

The News is running the campaign in partnership with the Newmarket Festival committee, seven state primary schools and Newmarket College.

If you would still like to get involved it is not too late. Please send your name, telephone number and address to Newmarket News, 15 High Street, Newmarket, CB8 8LX, call (01638) 662581 or email lizzy.buchan@cambridge-news.co.uk.

Volunteers must be over 18-years-old and willing to undergo a CRB check.

For more information on the 'Let's Read' campaign please go to www.newmarket-news.co.uk/Let's-Read.

My favourite childhood books

"A childhood book can evoke some quite strong memories. That is something which I realised recently as I encountered a parent reading Peepo by Janet and Alan Ahlberg to a child in our school library. While I had completely forgotten about the book, I recognised it straight away upon hearing extracts of it. I was very fond of the other Ahlberg books and their illustrations, especially Each Peach Pear Plum."

HORSE IN THE KITCHEN: Artist Jacquie with the horse which is off to the races next week

Artist Jacquie strikes gold

A COLOURFUL artist has transformed her kitchen into a studio to work on a life-size gold horse.

Newmarket-based artist Jacquie Jones has just put the finishing touches to the painted horse which will be auctioned for charity at Doncaster racecourse next week on the first day of the St Leger race meeting.

Jacquie said: "I love it, it's fantastic. I am going to miss it when it is gone as I am used to having horses in my kitchen now.

"It is quite challenging to begin with but once you get into it its a great way of working. Obviously you are having to work on a 3D surface so you have to make sure it looks good from different angles.

"It is a whole new challenge."

The unique equine artist has been slaving away on the 16hh horse for over a month, using the kitchen of her Rous Road home as a studio.

■ LIZZY BUCHAN

She said: "I did one for Doncaster last year for the St Leger with winners painted on a gold horse and that raised £8,500 for charity.

"They asked me if I would do another with ten of the greatest racehorses on it, such as Galileo, Frankel and Nijinsky."

Jacquie imported the horse statue from the Philippines and has covered it in car varnish so it can withstand wind and rain.

She said: "They look fantastic; for a stud owner it would be a lovely thing to have in the driveway. I hope the idea catches on and everyone wants one for their house."

The money raised from the auction will go to various racing charities, including Racing Welfare and the Northern Racing College Trust.

Painted horses are not the only string to Jacquie's bow as she had a brush with fame earlier this year by showcasing her speed-painting skills on Britain's Got Talent.

Her outlandish clothes and fancy brushwork failed to impress the judges but she got her own back by painting a cheeky portrait of the panel where she acts as a ringmaster with Simon Cowell cowering at her feet.

Her depictions of racing scenes have earned her a stable of fans, ranging from the Dubai royal family to champion racehorse trainer Sir Henry Cecil, who died earlier this year.

Let us get on to the High Street

FURTHER to your article on the market; I have been trading on the market in the snack van for the last 14 years.

It has slowly declined over the past three-four years since the council took it back, to what you see today, and it is only the traders' regular customers that are keeping the market going as there is no footfall at all.

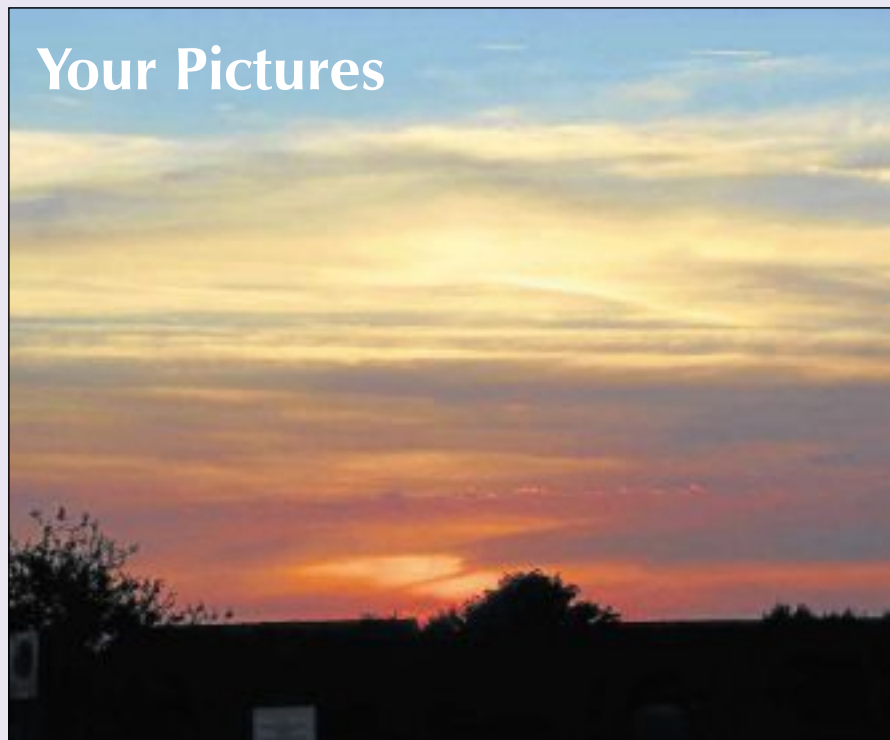

Although more signage may help, people who live in the town know where the market is.

In my opinion the market needs moving to a better location as it is off the beaten track where it is, and the council can then use it as a car park to generate more revenue for the town as a whole.

More promoting and advertising would also help as this would bring in more traders and more footfall. I have been approached by five other traders from other markets wishing to trade at Newmarket if it is moved from its current location.

Also, having the indoor market on the same day as the outdoor market is ridiculous as it means we are both fighting for the same trade on the same day.

The idea of the Newmarket Retailers Association of having Victorian barrows dotted around the High Street is madness, why not put them on the market and build on what you've got rather than spreading them about so that the public have to go elsewhere to shop?

■ David Bentham sent us this beautiful photo of the sun setting in Newmarket. We'd love to see your photographs. Send them in jpeg form, to wendy.davey@cambridge-news.co.uk

The market has been trying to get back on the High Street ever since

I started trading there but we were always told this couldn't be done, yet it seems that if we all work from a barrow it can be done.

It seems that the council and the retailers association don't want a market in the town at all.

VARIOUS local groups were able to give a good account of themselves during the five hours of the annual Clubs & Organisations Day, held in the Mildenhall Shopping Precinct.

Ranging from formal organisations, such as the Mildenhall Parish Council and the Community A Partnership to the Mildenhall Museum, there were also other "free time groups" such as the Mildenhall 81 District Town Twinning Group, the local Sea Cadet unit, T. S. Fox, and the town's Lions Club and other "helping hands" groups like the Money Advice Unit. Fun time groups also like the Bunbury Players and the Barton Mills W.I. played their part, as did a Dog Training group.

Sporting groups on the area were represented by the Mildenhall newest soccer club, AFC, Mildenhall, while the well-known West Row and Mildenhall Social Club bowls groups were present in force, outlining their skills. It was very pleasing to see the Mildenhall Library represented for the first time.

Music was provided by the local free radio station, Zack Radio.

The official opening was carried out by a special visitor, Her Majesty's High Sheriff for Suffolk, Sir Edward Greenwell Bart who had travelled from Gedgrave Hall, near Orford, to undertake the task. Sir Edward expressed his great pleasure at coming into West Suffolk, particularly to Mildenhall and said he had been very impressed with the wide range of activities which he had seen.

ANOTHER CRAFT FAIR

The regular Craft and Gift Fayre, held monthly at the Mildenhall Jubilee Centre, from 9.30am-2pm, will be taking place on Saturday, September 21.

Organised by Wheeler Events in venues in Norfolk and Suffolk, this fayre, with its refreshments and fund raising raffle, is now organised for the benefit of the EACH project (East Anglian Children's Hospices).

It is understood that while continuing next year, the sessions will be held at Mildenhall on a bi-monthly basis.

HORRINGER CRAFTS AGAIN

One of the longest running Crafts and Gift Fayres in West Suffolk is now gearing up for the Autumn and Winter sessions, held in the little village hall at Horringer.

The first of these takes place on Sunday, September 22, 10am-4pm, with those following on November 3, (Winter fair) and December 1 (Christmas fair).

Details of these events can be found at: www.horringer-crafts.co.uk

Mum launches safety campaign after daughter injured on bypass

A MUM whose daughter suffered life-changing injuries in a car accident has called for a road to be made safer following another fatal collision there.

Samantha Cracknell was 38 when she was involved in a two-vehicle collision on the A142 bypass at Soham in July 2009.

The mum-of-three, whose children were all in the car at the time, suffered multiple injuries and now lives at a specialist care home where she requires 24-hour care. Her children, Olivia, 15, Joseph, 12, and Eva, 5, are looked after by their father.

Her mum, Lesley Macer, 60, is calling for at least one roundabout to be built on the A142 between the roundabouts at Fordham Road and The Shade.

She is putting pressure on Cambridgeshire County Council after motorcyclist Anthony Pinney, 68, of Isleham Road, Fordham, was killed on the same stretch of road on August 4.

Mr Pinney, who was described by his family as "a wonderful man" suffered fatal injuries in a collision at the junction with Northfield Road, Soham.

Lesley, of Queensway, Soham, said: "How many more accidents must happen before the council decides this road needs at least one roundabout to reduce the speeding?"

"I was told Samantha wouldn't survive her injuries but she did, and although she will never be the same again, I am lucky to still have my daughter.

"My heart goes out to the family of Mr Pinney. The council needs to do something to make the bypass safer before someone else is killed or injured like my Samantha."

East Cambridgeshire District councillor Colin Fordham is backing Miss Macer. The former firefighter said: "I've been to that bypass countless times to see all the accidents. If you have ever had to help someone out of a smashed vehicle, you know it is horrendous."

A county council spokesman said: "The county council is happy to consider representations from people about improving the safety of Cambridgeshire's roads which could be implemented from the resources available to the authority. There is also the ability for local organisations such as parish or town councils to make a financial contribution to any agreed changes to a road's layout."

Snap school inspections across county

AN education watchdog has launched a series of co-ordinated inspections this week to look into the "disproportionate" number of under-performing schools in Suffolk.

Ofsted's latest data from 30 June, found that over 15,000 children in the county are attending a primary school that was judged to be less than 'good' at its last inspection.

Sean Harford, Ofsted's regional director for the East of England, said: "All parents should have the same opportunity to send their children to a good or better school but in Suffolk the chance of being able to do so is much lower than in other parts of the country."

These inspections, which were scheduled to take place this academic year but are being brought forward, will include all types of schools – although the majority will be primary schools. The findings will be shared with the local authority, schools, parents and the public.

Season of plenty

PRODUCE shows revealed their fresh appeal over the weekend.

Visitors turned out in their droves for the newly revamped Chippenham Produce Show on Sunday to marvel at flower arrangements, jams and an array of fresh vegetables. Another draw was the launch of new book Chippenham: Portrait of an English Village, which villagers have been working on for two years.

Chair Wendy Parsons said: "It went really well, far better than we expected. While we had the old crowd with beautifully turned out fruit and vegetables, we also had lots of new faces which was what we wanted."

Over in Fordham, St Peter's

Church was transformed with displays of fruit, flowers and home cooked produce by the Fordham and District Garden Club. There was also an array of cakes, breads, pastries and preserves, many of which were auctioned off.

Chairman Gavin Sadler said: "It was a difficult year weather-wise but a wonderful display."

Man, 25, jailed for 'frenzied' assault

A MAN who launched a "frenzied" attack at his mother's birthday party has been jailed for seven years.

Darren Pountney, 25, used bottles and plates as weapons as he lashed out at his uncle on August 25 last year, inflicting numerous injuries including a deep cut near his jugular vein.

Pountney, of The Street, Beck Row, had been drinking alcohol and taken drugs in the hours leading up to the attack, Ipswich Crown Court heard.

Prosecuting, Robert Sadd said: "It was no more than luck that vastly more serious injuries were not caused."

Mr Sadd said the attack appeared to have been sparked by a comment made by Mr Harrington to Pountney who punched his victim to the floor and stamped repeatedly on his head.

Pountney had pleaded guilty to charges of wounding and affray.

Mark McDonald, mitigating, said Pountney had expressed remorse and the attack had not been premeditated. Mr McDonald said Pountney had a history of alcohol and drug misuse, arising from problems including being diagnosed with attention deficit hyperactivity disorder at a very early age.

Mr Recorder Gerard Pounder told Pountney: "You flew off the handle, you reacted in a way that was completely out of proportion, you just lost it."

New lease of life for former pub

A DISUSED pub will be transformed into a gastronomic destination and could boast a new village shop.

The historic King's Head pub, in Dullingham, will open its doors to the public on September 17 following a complete internal refurbishment.

Since closing last year, the 17th Century building in Stetchworth Road has been boarded up until it was bought by Crown Catering Cambridge (CCC).

The new restaurant will provide classic British food, with a modern twist, using locally sourced produce.

Roger Hornett, chairman of the CCC group, said the company is excited to integrate itself into the life of the village.

He said: "We hope our investment will be seen locally in a positive light and we look forward to integrating our business activities into Dullingham village life."

The village could also get a new shop as the owners hope to turn one of the outbuildings into a specialist retail unit.

Mr Hornett said: "As part of our research into the viability of such a venture, we are happy to take soundings as to what might be of benefit locally."

The company has further plans for the King's Head site, including a 60 seat function room and the creation of catering facilities for their catering business which provides services for Cambridge University and Tattersalls.

Mr Hornett said: "The group of companies is proud of its contribution to local employment."

"It has in excess of 30 full time and part-time staff and draws on a pool of 180 uniformed casual workers, all in-house trained."

He added: "We have successfully run The Crown & Punchbowl restaurant at Horningsea for some years, and intend to use our broad experience in the catering trade to ensure that the King's Head restaurant is equally as successful."

Key housing meetings to be held in public

HOUSING talks will be held in public as councillors reneged on their decision to hold meetings behind closed doors.

Concerns were raised when Forest Heath District Council's Local Plan Working Group decided to hold a series of meetings about future housing plans for the district in secret.

However after the first meeting on Monday, it was decided the draft documents could be made public.

A spokeswoman for FHDC said: "At the meeting of the Local Plan Working Group held on Monday, September 9, the Working Group resolved that the reports on the Core Strategy Single Issue Review and the Site Specific Allocations be discussed in the public domain."

The review will determine housing allocations and sites for development across the district and will be open for public consultation at a later date.

Working Group member Cllr Rachel Hood said it was "a very positive" decision.

Speaking after the meeting, Newmarket's deputy mayor said: "I think it is a very positive move on behalf of Forest Heath."

"It will give an open discussion about the district which will go out to consultation next month. I think it is very important for the people we are trying to represent to know what is going on."

Members of the public can attend the next three meetings at district council offices in Mildenhall.

To view the draft consultation document go to www.forest-heath.gov.uk.

Rare chance to peek behind the stable doors

■ LIZZY BUCHAN

STABLES across Newmarket will open their doors to visitors for a very special day this month.

Now in its second year, the Newmarket Open Day offers the public rare access to a range of prestigious racing yards as well as a fun-filled programme of activities across the town.

The event was revived in 2012 for the first time in 15 years and around 10,000 people descended on Newmarket for the chance to meet some of the industry's movers and shakers.

The three charity beneficiaries of this year's open day will be the British Racing School, The National Horseracing Museum and the New Astley Club, a social welfare charity which aims to build strong links within the racing community.

Matt Mancini, community development director of the New Astley Club said: "Last year's open day was a great success which was enjoyed not only by the visiting public but also the stable and stud staff who proudly showed off their horses and work places."

"The New Astley Club is to be relaunched this year as The Racing Centre and it is thanks to donors like Betfair and Newmarket

Cap roof is replaced at 19th century mill

■ LIZZY BUCHAN

AN 18th century smock mill could soon be restored to working order as its six-tonne cap roof has been replaced.

The cap was removed from Burwell Mill in March for crucial restoration work so the 19th Century mill can be returned to full working order.

Following six months of careful restoration work, the cap was returned to its home using an enormous crane.

Jane Phillimore, project manager, said: "The cap went back on last week but not the sails yet."

"It was very dramatic."
 She said: "The sails are not quite ready yet as they are still being built."

"We are making enormous strides with the project and are very pleased with how it is going."

The aluminium cap roof is turned by a six bladed fan tail but for a number of years that has been seized in position.

Following a £420,000 grant from the Heritage Lottery Fund, it is hoped the mill will be restored to museum working standards by Spring 2014.

A temporary flat roof was placed on top of the decapitated mill over the summer months to keep the inside dry.

The mill is currently encased in scaffolding so builders can work on external lime render, re-tar the tower and repair the windows.

The Grade II listed mill is the last in Burwell, which used to have four working mills.

Some of the grant money will be used on community engagement schemes and reinterpretation of the museum.

Volunteers are needed to help paint the new shutters for the sails on Tuesdays and/or Thursdays.

Crews battle shed fire

A SHED went up in flames in the middle of the night.

Firefighters were called to the blaze in Buntings Path, Burwell, on Thursday at around 3am.

A shed measuring 3m by 5m was on fire and crews battled the flames for more than an hour before it was put out.

A fire service spokesman said the cause was believed to be accidental.

Skatepark open once again

SKATERS can practise again as the ramps have reopened.

Burwell Parish Council had to repair the ramps at Recreation Park, in Hythe Lane after a spate of vandalism.

A spokesperson said: "The park is used by residents of all ages and we hope that such acts of vandalism are a one-off allowing all our open spaces to be freely enjoyed by everyone throughout the year."

Wheelie bins are now rolling in . . .

■ LIZZY BUCHAN

BLUE and green lidded bins will dot the streets of Burwell as the new recycling service begins in the district.

Some streets have already begun to receive new bins and the majority of the village will have the new bins by the end of September.

Liz Knox, head of environmental services at East Cambridgeshire District Council, said: "We would like to thank all those residents who have been so patient this week as we have delivered their new wheelie bins.

"Such a large scale roll out of a new service can lead to minor teething problems which we have worked hard to overcome and this has been helped by the positive attitude of the vast majority of residents."

The new service includes a blue lidded bin for recycling collections and a green lidded bin for garden and food waste. These will be collected fortnightly on alternate weeks while refuse in black sacks will be collected weekly.

Ms Knox said: "For those people who have received their bins their new service will begin next week, which means they will be able to recycle more of their waste than ever before.

"In the district our target is to recycle more than 50 per cent of our household rubbish. We are confident that when the roll out is finished in November this is definitely a target we can achieve if we all work together."

Properties which cannot accept wheeled bin services because of space or access issues have been offered an alternative service with clear sacks for recycling and the existing brown sack service for food and garden waste.

A number of streets in Burwell will have to wait until November to receive their bins. For more information go to www.eastcambs.gov.uk/waste/recycling-service-changes or call (01353) 665555.

HERE THEY COME: New bins arrive in East Cambridgeshire

Relive the past with history group

TAKE a trip into the area's illustrious past by joining a village local history group.

After a summer break, Burwell Local History Society (BLHS) will be resuming its packed programme of talks next week.

Since forming in 1993, the society has covered a large variety of topics, ranging from archaeology in the Fens to ghosts haunting Cambridge University colleges.

Judy Paxton, BLHS member, said:

"It is the 20th anniversary of the society so we hope it is just going to continue to get bigger and better as it grows.

"We have a mixture of topics we cover which we try to vary over the year."

All are welcome to the first talk of the season called 'In and Out of the Workhouse' by Liz Carter on September 18 or attend a spooky talk on 'Cambridge College Ghosts' by Robert Halliday on October 16.

People can go along to sessions as visitors as well as becoming members.

Membership costs £12 per year and visitors are welcome to attend meetings at £2 per visit.

The society meets on the third Wednesday of each month at 7.30pm at Burwell Village College.

For more information on BLHS and listings please call society secretary Sylvia McKinley on (01638) 742647.

Lord Derby told: Listen to the town

■ LIZZY BUCHAN

A LANDOWNER has been urged to "listen to Newmarket" before submitting plans for 400 homes.

Suffolk County Council deputy leader Cllr Lisa Chambers has written the urgent plea to Lord Derby, who owns the 160-acre greenfield site at Hatchfield Farm, in Fordham Road.

She urged the landowner to consider the objectives set out in the Newmarket Vision compiled earlier this year, before submitting his application.

Cllr Chambers said: "The Vision arose from a process which involved the widest possible representation of the people of Newmarket. We see the report as the authentic voice of Newmarket."

"I would be very keen to understand how your thinking is developing in a context where we all know what kind of developments the people of

LISTEN: Cllr Lisa Chambers

Newmarket would like to see."

The Newmarket Vision was created by the Prince's Foundation for Building Community, sets out ten vision statements aimed at making the town a better place in which to live, work and visit over the next 20 years.

A spokeswoman for Lord Derby said they had responded to Cllr Chambers' letter.

She said: "It is our belief that a sustainable residential-led development at Hatchfield Farm reflects the vision outlined in the Prince's Foundation report."

A second public exhibition was held yesterday and continues today at the Rutland Arms Hotel.

The latest proposals are for 400 homes ranging from one to five-bed properties. The houses would vary in appearance and layout, including a number of semi-detached properties. Plans also include 120 affordable homes.

Along with the new houses, Lord Derby is proposing improvements to the A142, with traffic lights at junctions with the A14.

Plans will be submitted later this month following the results of the public consultation.

Happy birthdays at Sergio's!

MUCH-loved local restaurateur Sergio Verducci, who runs the popular Sergio's Italian in Soham, has a lot to celebrate this year.

Not only has his restaurant, which he runs with wife Annette, been serving delicious Italian fare to the people of Soham and the surrounding area for an impressive 25 years, but Sergio himself has now just reached the fine age of 70!

But do these combined milestones mean that he's thinking of a change? Talking about his years in the business, Sergio said: "I'm prepared to soldier on for now. Of course, if a serious buyer were to approach me (with trade references and suitable guarantees), then I would certainly be open to offers." He continued: "Over the last 25 years the restaurant has been very successful, and has built up an extremely good reputation."

Based on the High Street, in the heart of Soham, Sergio's loyal clientele would

HELD IN GREAT AFFECTION: A quarter of a century's worth of Italian food-loving diners can't be wrong!

no doubt be sad to see him leave. Just a quick search of the glowing praise for the restaurant found on websites like TripAdvisor (tripadvisor.co.uk) and Local Secrets (localsecrets.com) will show just how dearly loved it has been, and what a good base of customers Mr and Mrs Verducci have built up in the last quarter of a century, with their great selection of Italian dishes and warm, friendly service in comfortable surroundings.

And it's an affection that is reciprocated. As Sergio says: "I have enjoyed being in Soham very much, and am extremely grateful for all the support over the years".

If you want to visit Sergio's, the restaurant can be found at 16 High Street, Soham, CB7 5HD. Telephone them on (01353) 720323 – and don't forget to wish a big Happy Birthday (or even "Buon Compleanno, if you're feeling multi-lingual) to the man himself!

Your New Recycling Service

East Cambridgeshire
District Council

We can't do it without you!

Wheeled bins services are currently being introduced to East Cambridgeshire, with all areas receiving bins by mid November

Blue lidded wheeled bin

Green lidded wheeled bin

Things to remember:

- Materials will only be collected if in the correct bin.
- Cardboard now goes in the blue lidded bin for recycling.
- Recycling & garden and food waste are now collected on opposite weeks.
- Recyclable materials can be mixed together in the blue bin (not in bags)
- Bin lids must be closed to be collected (Raised lids cause litter & potential injuries to collection crews).
- Your new service starts the week after your bins are delivered – recyclables will be collected first, followed by garden and food waste the next week.

Black sack refuse service – There will be no changes to collections, but 52 sacks (1 year's supply) will be issued with bins. No further sacks will be issued until the next due distribution.

Tractor thief found hiding – up a tree

A MAN who took refuge up a tree after he was found driving a £45,000 stolen tractor has avoided receiving a prison sentence.

Joe Ebsworth, of Manderston Road, Newmarket, pleaded guilty to handling stolen goods and driving without a licence or insurance at Cambridge Crown Court on Thursday.

The 26-year-old also entered a guilty plea to a separate charge of having firearm ammunition, which he was banned from possessing following a previous conviction.

The tractor was taken from a farm near Huntingdon, where it had been locked up the previous night.

At 8pm on April 11, the day after the tractor was stolen, Ebsworth was driving the vehicle in the direction of Bury St Edmunds when he realised he was being trailed by police.

He jumped out, abandoning the tractor at the roadside and took refuge up a tree.

■ NICK KOSTOV

Police were baffled until a search dog sniffed him out 50 metres from the tractor, the judge at Cambridge Crown Court heard.

Ebsworth was sentenced to two months in prison for possession of the shotgun cartridge, which was suspended for two years.

He was also handed a 12-month prison sentence, suspended for two years, for handling stolen goods.

Ebsworth was also sentenced to one day in the cells for failing to surrender and has been disqualified from driving for six months.

Sentencing him at Cambridge Crown Court, Recorder Martin Oldham told him: "You are perilously close to receiving a not insignificant term of imprisonment – but it won't be today."

PUZZLING: Pupils at Newmarket College are invited to join a new maths club named after wartime codebreaker Bill Tutte

Codebreaker to inspire kids to get puzzling

A WARTIME codebreaker has inspired the creation of an extra-curricular maths club for young people.

The Maths and Science departments at Newmarket College have set up the Bill Tutte Club to encourage youngsters to develop their Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics (STEM) skills.

The club is named after Newmarket-born Bill Tutte, a mathematical genius who solved a German code at the Government's codebreaking headquarters at Bletchley Park during the Second World War.

It will be open to all year 5 to 8 students from schools in the Newmarket area and will run monthly at the college – completely free of charge.

Catherine Andrews, subject leader for Mathematics, said: "Youngsters from Years 5, 6, 7 and 8 are welcome to join in and enjoy exploring mathematics and science in a fun environment."

The Bill Tutte club will be run by two experienced teachers starting today from 4pm to 6pm.

Anyone interested should email catherine.andrews@newmarketcollege.co.uk for more information.

The club is being supported by Newmarket Town Council, which is also working on the Bill Tutte memorial statue planned for Rutland Hill.

CHARITY CHAPS:
Union J are supporting Children in Need

Union J launch national charity appeal

A FORMER stable lad and his bandmates are leading the charge for this year's Children in Need.

JJ Hamblett, who used to work at Clarehaven Stables, Newmarket, and the rest of his band Union J have pledged to support the BBC's mammoth charity campaign to help disadvantaged children and young people in the UK.

The band said: "This year we are supporting BBC Children in Need, and we want you to do the same.

"Order a fundraising pack now and start fundraising."

The former X-Factor contestants will be donning their pyjamas on the day.

They are hoping people will ditch their work clothes for something snuggly to raise money.

BBC Children in Need's Life President Sir Terry Wogan says: "Mine was a happy childhood but for many children in the UK, this isn't the case, which is why the BBC started BBC Children in Need."

To date nearly £690 million has been raised for children across the UK.

The official fundraising pack is available for download and is packed with fundraising ideas and games to help people with their efforts.

New campaign to tackle flytipping

DUMPED rubbish which is costing the county more than £250,000 a year will be the subject of a police crackdown this month.

People found to be transporting rubbish illegally may be issued with fixed penalty fines of £300.

As part of a county-wide 'Tip Off' stop and search scheme, Suffolk Waste Partnership (SWP) has secured £25,800 of funding from Defra to tackle the problem.

Officers from district and borough councils will be patrolling the roads of Suffolk alongside police officers to carry out checks of commercial vehicles and inspect waste carrier licences and waste transfer documentation.

Cllr Andrew Nunn, Chairman of the SWP, said: "Fly-tipping is a serious source of pollution and poses a threat to public health and our local environment.

"This campaign will help us to inform people about their duty of care to prevent waste ending up in the wrong place."

Waste transported by rogue

carriers often ends up fly-tipped in an attempt to avoid proper disposal charges.

This activity not only harms the environment, but also presents unfair competition to companies who deal with waste in accordance with the law.

Cllr Nunn said: "Fly-tipping cost taxpayers in Suffolk £265,000 last year – by preventing fly-tipping in the first place, these costs can be kept to a minimum.

"We welcome the opportunity to help reduce the number of fly-tipping incidents in Suffolk and work in partnership with all those affected by this criminal behaviour."

Councils have been working closely with landowners and enforcement agencies since April to tackle the problem.

From April 2011 to March 2012 the SWP cleared up nearly 3,000 separate fly-tipping incidents.

Landowners have to arrange to clear waste dumped on their land themselves, at additional cost.

The 'Tip Off' campaign will run until March next year and aims to revolutionise prevention, reporting, investigation and clearing of fly-tipped waste while reducing associated costs.

The SWP plans to increase the number of convictions for fly-tipping and to name and shame those convicted.

They will liaise with landowners to help them reduce the incidents of fly-tipping on their land and explore options which help landowners deal with waste on private land effectively and at the lowest possible cost.

The campaign also aims to streamline the reporting process across the county and urge small and medium sized enterprises to take waste to Household Waste Recycling Centres.

Fireplace safety is subject of new campaign

RESIDENTS are warned to protect themselves in winter by sweeping their chimneys.

As part of National Chimney Fire Safety Week, which was launched on Monday, firefighters are now calling for residents to ensure their chimneys are properly maintained to reduce the risk of fires in cold months.

Rick Hylton, area commander at Cambridgeshire Fire and Rescue Service said: "If you have an open fire in your home, it is vital that your chimney is swept at least once a year to prevent a build up of debris which could start a fire.

"In addition to this, the brickwork on the chimney should also be inspected, particularly in the roof space to ensure there are no cracked or broken bricks which embers could escape through."

Last winter the fire service attended an increased number of chimney fires in the county owing to the long and bitter cold temperatures.

Mr Hylton said: "Open fires can be cosy and a cheaper way to stay warm, but a chimney fire is expensive.

"Not only could it cause extensive damage to your home, but it could also put the lives of you and your family at serious risk."

Residents are advised to ensure they have a working smoke alarm, to use a fire guard and to check the hearth and floor for embers before going to bed.

Brave mum says thanks with fund-raising leap

FREEFALLING: Heather Bowers in action as she took part in a tandem skydive to raise money for neonatal units at two hospitals

LEAPING from a plane might seem like a nightmare to some.

But after her son Julian was born 13 weeks prematurely, brave mum Heather Bowers decided to take the plunge to raise money for the hospitals which cared for him.

Heather, of Somersfield Close, Burwell, took part in a tandem skydive from 10,000 feet on Saturday at Chatteris airfield.

The 38-year-old said: "It was absolutely amazing.

"After getting stuck behind every slow vehicle in the world, we arrived late, so didn't get into the plane until about 3pm, then had to come back down because the winds were gusting over 25mph.

"But I went back up 40 minutes later, and finally got to jump."

She added: "It was absolutely terrifyingly amazing."

Heather has already raised £914 for the neonatal units at

■ LIZZY BUCHAN

Addenbrooke's and West Suffolk Hospital, where her baby son was treated last year.

Julian, who is now a healthy one-year-old, was born at the Rosie hospital weighing just 2lb 3oz.

He was then moved to West Suffolk Hospital where he remained until September when he was allowed to come home.

Heather decided she wanted to do something to help other parents and to show her appreciation for the staff at both hospitals.

She said: "I wanted to help them carry on some of that work and help others who have to use NICU by raising money for them. So hopefully they can bring home their naughty little babies as quickly as possible too."

Music magic

the GUIDE

CAMBRIDGE Music Festival is one of the most eagerly anticipated events in the city's classical music calendar. Founded in 1991 and initially held every three years, the now annual festival is going from strength to strength under the visionary leadership of its director Justin Lee.

This year's festival (November 12 – 22) is as varied, exciting and ambitious as you could imagine. Opening with a performance by legendary violinist Nigel Kennedy, it includes appearances by world renowned pianist Murray Perahia with the Academy of St Martin in the Fields; countertenor Andreas Scholl; the acclaimed Nash Ensemble; Britten Sinfonia; and a special performance involving more than 400 children from Cambridgeshire schools and choristers of King's College to celebrate the centenary of Benjamin Britten's birth.

Nigel Kennedy has attracted an enormous amount of worldwide media attention throughout a remarkable career spanning more than 25 years. He has given public and private performances for members of the British royal family and has won many awards including an Outstanding Contribution to British Music and Male Artist of the Year at the UK Brit Awards. From a young age, he was Yehudi Menuhin's most famous protégé and his first highly-acclaimed recording was Elgar's Violin Concerto which was voted 1985 Record of the Year by Gramophone magazine and was awarded Best Classical Album of the Year at the BPI Awards. His first landmark recording of Vivaldi's Four Seasons earned a place in the Guinness Book of Records as the best-selling classical work of all time. Nigel appears at Cambridge Corn Exchange on Wednesday, November 13 with an evening inspired by his mentors; the violinists Yehudi Menuhin and Stéphane Grappelli. After Bach's music for solo violin, he is joined by his quartet for the infectious improvisation and swing of Fats Waller.

Countertenor Andreas Scholl's voice has an ethereal quality which has won him accolades from around the world. ('...few can equal the sheer beauty of tone and dramatic instinct displayed by Andreas Scholl' – BBC Music Magazine). On Monday, November 18 he sings Purcell and Britten at King's College Chapel, opening the evening with Welcome to all the Pleasures from Purcell's Ode to St Cecilia and ending the evening with Britten's Hymn to St Cecilia.

Scholl is joined for this very special recital by James Gilchrist (tenor), Florilegium and the Choir of King's College Cambridge, under the assured conductorship of Stephen Cleobury.

The final day of the festival is Friday, November 22 – not only the Feast of St Cecilia, the patron saint of music, but this year also the centenary of the birth of one of this country's most influential composers, Benjamin Britten. Friday Afternoons is an international singing project led by Aldeburgh Music.

Cambridge Music Festival has teamed up with Cambridgeshire Music on this major vocal education project which will culminate in a non-public performance by over 1,000 young singers, both live at the Cambridge Corn Exchange and live streamed at schools throughout the country.

Acclaimed tenor Mark Padmore ends the Cambridge Music Festival on November 22 with an appearance at West Road Concert Hall when he is joined by Pekka Kuusisto (conductor/violin) and Stephen Bell (horn). The varied programme – from Bartók and Berg to Nico Muhly and Arvo Pärt – culminates in Britten's Serenade for Tenor, Horn and Strings, a fittingly atmospheric and memorable end to an exceptional festival.

Currie's still hot

THOUGH the landscape of what we used to call the music industry has changed beyond recognition over the past decade, it's good to know that at least one hoary old rock tradition – the tried-and-tested notion of getting it together in the country – is alive and well.

In Justin Currie's case, it was technically an island: in 2012, the sometime Del Amitri frontman excused himself from the many distractions of his native Glasgow and decamped to the Hebridean isle of Skye to work on the songs for what would become his third solo album, Lower Reaches.

"I just rented the first decent-looking cottage I saw that didn't have hideous MFI furniture in it," says the amiable 48-year-old, speaking to The Guide in advance of his sold-out solo show at The Junction in Cambridge on Sunday. "And it was remarkably productive – just because I

As he prepares to visit Cambridge for a sold-out solo show, followed by Del Amitri's first live dates in over a decade, the generously whiskered singer-songwriter tells PAUL KIRKLEY why he's refusing to grow old gracefully hadn't written anything for so long, I was just desperate to write anything, so I got straight in the zone. And it was very beautiful up there – The Cuillins were looming over the house in a very threatening, Gothic manner. Everything about it was just perfect."

With no internet or mobile phone connection, Currie knocked out 15 new songs (half the tally he would eventually take to Texas for recording sessions with And You Will Know Us By The Trail Of Dead producer Mike McCarthy) in less than a fortnight – a personal best he says could only have been achieved through total solitary confinement.

"I hadn't been writing prolifically for a year before that because my girlfriend had moved into my house, which is a situation I've avoided my entire life," he admits. "I kind of need my house to be empty for at least a couple of weeks to write anything, because I get very easily distracted. So I realised that, in order to still have a relationship and a career, I was going to have to rent somewhere."

Currie is now into his fourth decade of refusing to grow up: it's 30 years since Del Amitri (originally Del Amitri Riazlo – the name was chosen specifically for its meaninglessness) first made their mark on Glasgow's fertile post-punk scene, peddling a brand of spiky, angular jangle-pop that saw them being championed by John Peel and picked up as a support slot to The Smiths.

After one brilliant but largely ignored album, the band disappeared to America, and returned pretty much unrecognisable.

This proved to be the making of them, with 1989's Waking Hours, and its signature anthem Nothing Ever Happens, launching the band to a new level of success, which they parlayed into a further three top 10 albums – plus a surprise US hit with 1995's Roll To Me.

"Roll To Me bought us two houses," he says. "It would have bought us a small housing estate over the 20 years that it's been on the radio. That's the odd thing about a band like us, in that we never sold millions of records, but we had these big radio hits that are still on the radio in America, and to a certain extent in the UK, which accrue royalties if you wrote the damn things."

You can read a much longer version of this interview at www.cambridge-news.co.uk/Whats-on-leisure/.

Justin Currie's date at Cambridge Junction on Sunday is sold out, but tickets are available to see Del Amitri play Cambridge Corn Exchange on Tuesday, January 28, 2014, at £45/35 from (01223) 357851 / www.cornex.co.uk

TO truly excel in a chosen field, you need to be challenged, pushed to the limit of human endurance to find previously untapped reserves of strength and courage.

For this reason, sport is littered with bitter rivalries between incredible champions. Some of the fiercest rivalry has been contested on Formula 1 racetracks. Ayrton Senna and Alain Prost famously clashed in and out of their supercharged machines, compelling the French driver to declare that "Senna wanted to destroy me".

During the 1970s, rubber burnt and tempers frayed between two very different drivers: charismatic ladies' man James Hunt and incredibly ambitious Austrian speed fiend Niki Lauda. Their daredevil duels reached a horrifying crescendo at the 1976 German Grand Prix at the Nurburgring when Lauda's Ferrari burst into flames, trapping him in the inferno. An incredible six weeks later, Lauda emerged from hospital with extensive scarring, determined to prevent Hunt from claiming the chequered flag at Monza.

This incredible story of courage and resilience is dramatised in Rush, Ron Howard's superb biopic that charts the rivalry between Hunt (Chris Hemsworth) and Lauda (Daniel Bruhl) from their early days through to the glamour of the Formula 1 circus.

Directed with bro and turbo-charged by stirring performances from Hemsworth and Bruhl, Rush is a riveting evocation of an bygone era. An uplifting story of admiration and friendship purrs beneath the bonnet of Howard's direction offering plenty of high-speed thrills for petrol heads.

Screenwriter Morgan selects the choicest cuts of the facts for the big screen, including horrific scenes at the hospital where a badly burnt Lauda drifts in and out of consciousness but still musters enough strength to growl, "Tell the priest to get lost. I'm still alive!"

Howard's film pulsates with the same vitality, painting a vivid portrait of men who lived on the edge in an era when racing was genuinely a dance of death.

Green green grass of home

AFTER a summer of being dried out by heat and trampled on by outdoor activities, your lawn may be looking a bit tired. If you want to restore any bare patches, or are even thinking of sowing a completely new lawn, early autumn is a good time to do it.

But how do you choose the type of seed for the job from the array of different grass seeds on the market?

Help is at hand from Which? Gardening, the Consumers' Association magazine, which has just revealed the results of its test on 36 lawn seed mixes and repair kits, assessing both germination and appearance of the grass and coverage of each plot at monthly intervals.

Best overall lawn seed mix is Asda Multipurpose (£3 for 500g), which the survey says will give you a great looking lawn. In the trial, it established quickly, gave a dense, finer-leaved turf, was among the best in terms of coverage and appearance and recovered well after wear-and-tear tests.

The next highest scorer was Mr Fothergill's Better Lawn (£5.99 for 500g, available from garden centres), which looked good throughout the autumn and following spring, recovered quickly after the wear-and-tear tests and had produced a dense sward by the end of the trial.

For those just repairing their lawn, the researchers recommend Miracle-Gro Patch Magic (£9.99 for 1kg, Tesco), which worked exceptionally well in the trial and established quickly. The plastic shaker contains coir and fertiliser with very little grass seed. The coir shows where you've scattered it and indicates where it needs watering.

The grass is fine-leaved and green, but didn't cope as well with wear-and-tear as other recommended lawn seeds.

Other recommended lawn-seed mixes include Wilko Multipurpose with ryegrass (£6 for 750g, Wilkinson), which produced tough grass with a good density throughout the trial, and Verve quick Start (£3.98 for 500g, B&Q) which was one of the first in the test to germinate and completely cover the ground.

If you are sowing a new lawn, you'll need to dig over the area thoroughly to allow free drainage, removing stones and weeds as you go, then incorporate organic matter such as compost or well-rotted manure. On heavy clay incorporate sharp grit and organic soil conditioner. On light soils just incorporate the organic matter.

Firm the ground by laying a plank of wood on it and walking over it several times. Then move the plank across the site until the whole area is firmed, but not compacted.

Next rake the area to produce a fine 'tilth' on which to sow the seed. You may need to rake repeatedly until the ground is level and the surface is crumbly.

Make sure you buy good quality grass seed which is the current season's stock and choose the type to suit your needs. A lawn for a family-friendly garden may include a mixture of dwarf perennial ryegrasses to withstand heavy use, while a lawn just to look upon might be a mixture of fine tufted grasses. Always follow the instructions on the packet about seed distribution and don't be tempted to sow more thickly than recommended.

To repair your lawn, loosen the soil in the bare patch with a fork, scatter grass seed and fertiliser over the area and rake lightly to work the seed into the soil. Water if it's dry and cover with netting or fleece to keep off birds.

THORLABS

Sales Administrator & Receptionist

Thorlabs is a successful technology company which designs and manufactures products for scientific research and industry. Our large product catalogue is present in almost every optics laboratory worldwide.

We are currently looking for an efficient and reliable individual to join our busy sales team and assist with sales enquiries and general office administration. The ideal candidate should be organised, enjoy working with people and have good computer skills. You will need to become familiar with our product range and computer systems, but a technical background is not necessary.

Key Responsibilities:

You will join our active sales team and provide a range of duties to support our customers, including using our systems to produce quotes and process orders. In addition, you will be the main person responsible for answering the main phone line and other office duties.

Duties:

- Handling telephone, email and fax orders
- Processing orders and quotations using our computer systems based on Axapta
- Answering general customer enquiries by telephone and email
- Organising for catalogues to be dispatched to customers
- Collecting data on sales activities
- Supporting the rest of the sales team with general administrative duties
- Reception duties including answering and redirecting all external calls, receiving and greeting visitors, and franking post ready for collection.

Required Knowledge & Skills:

- Familiarity with computers and able to quickly learn new systems
- Excellent telephone manner
- Good communication skills, able to understand customer requirements and respond accordingly
- Excellent organisation skills
- Attention to detail
- Ability to follow documented SOPs (Standard Operating Procedures)
- A helpful and professional working attitude
- Ability to work under pressure and prioritise work in order to meet deadlines
- Able to work as part of a team

If you wish to apply for the above position, please send a copy of your CV along with a covering letter stating your salary expectations to Human Resources, Thorlabs Ltd, 1 Saint Thomas Place, Cambridgeshire Business Park, Ely, Cambs CB7 4EX or email recruitment@thorlabs.com. If you have not had a response from us within 5 working days of the closing date, unfortunately your application has been unsuccessful.

Closing date: 13th September 2013

WE GOT TOGETHER AND NOW YOU CAN JOIN US!

Peter Brett Associates LLP (PBA) is an independent consulting practice of; engineers, planners, scientists, economists and property professionals. With development and infrastructure at the core of our business, we provide trusted advice to create value from the land and buildings owned or operated by our clients. Together, we create better places for the communities in which we work. To help us achieve this we are looking to recruit more great people to join us in helping to provide our clients with innovative solutions and deliver our projects effectively. Following our acquisition of Hannah, Reed and Associates Ltd, we are looking to expand our Project Management and Civil Engineering teams in our office in Cambridge, and are seeking enthusiastic, experienced and motivated individuals looking to make that next career move.

Project Management Opportunities (PMHR1)

We are looking for Project Managers at all levels, with a minimum requirement of three years' relevant experience. The successful candidates will work on a varied project portfolio and will be involved through all stages of the project management process from; feasibility, concept and design, through to contractor procurement, site project management and handover.

The ideal candidates will have experience of delivering both the technical and commercial aspects across a range of complex (and sometimes multi-disciplinary) projects, whilst managing and ensuring collaboration across a number of different teams to ensure the effective delivery of our projects and our clients' expectations. As the majority of our projects are procured following a two-stage tender process (with contracts established using the NEC Engineering and Construction Contract), experience in this form of procurement will be essential.

We would like to hear from you if you have a strong track record of delivery across both the private and public sectors and have worked with either a contractor or consultancy. You must also possess excellent communication skills, both written and oral, and should hold a relevant degree in Civil Engineering or Building Structures/Surveying. It is also preferable that your project management experience has covered high quality building projects, containing laboratories and/or higher education establishments.

INTERESTED? All our roles come with a competitive salary and benefits package. If you would like to join us, please email your up-to-date CV to: work-for-us@peterbrett.com, quoting the relevant vacancy reference number as above or speak to Helen Doyle on 0118 952 0285. For more information on our vacancies and our exciting range of projects, please see our websites: www.peterbrett.com or www.hannahreed.co.uk. PBA is committed to a policy of Equal Opportunities.

Civil Engineering Opportunities (CVHR2)

We are also looking for Civil Engineers with a range of technical expertise at all levels to enhance our established civil engineering team for which we have a minimum requirement of one year's relevant experience. Successful candidates must be able to demonstrate a very high level of technical competence, preferably across a range of infrastructure disciplines, and have a track record in land development or regeneration, or a specialisation in highways or drainage.

Senior level applicants will also need to demonstrate a strong track record in delivering expert technical support and advice to clients and helping to mentor and develop their team. A strong commercial acumen and the ability to communicate effectively will also be expected for any senior roles.

We would like to hear from you if you are a technically competent road/highway and drainage designer, are familiar with the relevant Specifications, BS:EN's and Building Regulations, have experience with WinDes/MicroDrainage/Auto CAD 3D, possess excellent communication skills (both written and oral) and most importantly enjoy working with people who care about quality.

Hannah, Reed and Associates Limited is now part of the PBA Group.

Huff challenge falls flat after puncture

A PUNCTURE denied reigning champion Rob Huff a potential podium finish at California's Sonoma Raceway as his hopes of securing a top three finish in the World Touring Car Championship suffered a serious blow.

The Newmarket driver was running in third place in the second of Sunday's two races and was ready to challenge the leading cars of Honda's Gabriele Tarquini and Proteam Racing's Mehdi Bennani when he suffered a right front puncture.

Huff pitted for new tyres but finished in 20th place. Tarquini took the chequered flag.

Huff finished eighth in the first race following a long battle with the ROAL Motorsport BMW of Tom Coronel.

Having qualified for race one in seventh, 32-year-old Huff did a superb job in his All-Inkl.com Munnich Motorsport Seat Leon of keeping the BMW behind him. Coronel eventually found a way past when he nudged Huff wide at turn seven.

The race was won by Tom Chilton.

"Our run of misfortune continues," said Huff.

"I had a great battle with Tom Coronel in the first race and there was absolutely no way he was coming past me without giving me a tap.

"Suffering a puncture in race two was unfortunate. We would have had the pace to challenge for the win, or at least maintain third place."

Huff is now sixth in the overall standings with 143 points. Leader Yvan Muller leads with 343.

The championship resumes at Suzuka on September 21.

MISFORTUNE: Rob Huff encountered more bad luck in California

Jarvis enjoys two podium finishes at Donington Park

OLIVER Jarvis made a successful return to Donington Park with two trips to the podium in the Superstars GT Sprint International Series.

Sharing an MTM Audi R8 LMS ultra with series leader Thomas Schoffler, Jarvis put the car on pole for the first of the two races.

The car did not quite have the speed to keep up with the leaders, and an extended pitstop as required by the championship's balance of performance rules, meant third place was about as good as Jarvis could have hoped for.

In both races, the Ferrari 458 cars of Raffaele Giammaria and Andri Kruglyk, and Ruslan Tsyplakov and Richard Westbrook were first and second respectively.

"It was great to put the car on pole but we didn't have the race pace we expected," said Newmarket driver Jarvis.

"That was surprising because the car felt great in testing."

Schoffler qualified in third in race two where once again he and Jarvis finished in third place.

While this was a one-off appearance in the championship for Jarvis, the results extended Schoffler's lead and put him in an excellent position to finish on top.

"It turned out very well," continued Jarvis.

"Thomas has an eight-point lead and in the next race he won't have the balance of performance issues."

Jarvis' next race will be the final round of the Blancpain Endurance Series at the Nurburgring on September 21.

Holden and Dawson on target

NEWMARKET continued their preparations for the new East Men's League, Division 2N campaign with a 2-2 friendly draw against Royston.

The team showed good spirit after falling behind and, with coach Nic Thorpe rotating the squad, Alex Andreou, James Wrinch, Chris Leggett and Ollie Wade started to dominate.

From one break, Mark Pears was found on the halfway line, hand some nice play resulted in him squaring to Matt Holden for a tap in.

Royston scored next as a defensive mistake saw Newmarket concede possession and, from the resulting penalty corner, the unfortunate Jordan Newnes closed down well and saw the flick deflect of his stick into the bottom corner.

Newmarket came back again and dominated the rest of the match, Ed Griffiths and Josh Dawson's contact movement creating spaces, and they capitalised when Will Wilson's 40-yard pass was deflected in at the far post by Dawson.

Newmarket tried in vain to score a winner, with Wade and Wilson having efforts cleared off the line and Griffiths missing from a yard out when it looked impossible not to score.

Pears hit the outside of the post and was fouled a yard out, which may have been a penalty flick most other weeks, and ram-paging right-back Dave Worrall twice went close at the far post.

The club also enjoyed a successful open day at the weekend, with dozens of young players getting coaching.

Holley heads home the Joggers

PAUL Holley was the first Newmarket Jogger home in the final 5K Kevin Henry League fixture of the season.

He was third overall, out of 238 runners, in 16min 6sec.

On his return from injury, Denys Olefir was 14th in 17.04.

Sam Sadler won a tussle with Martyn Taylor, finishing in 27th in 17.54, with Taylor 28th in 17.55.

Leading the Newmarket ladies home was Urusula Ransom, who crossed the line in 20.13 for 99th overall and 13th lady.

Natalia Allen was second female in 21.43, and 140th overall.

New recruit Effie Gray put in a tremendous run on her debut to finish in 182nd overall in a time of 23:39.

The League awards for best male and female Newmarket Joggers for the season, based on all the races, went to Neil Williamson and Carolyn Anderson.

Taylor was the first Jogger over the line in the Grunty Fen Half Marathon, which was hosted by Ely Runners.

He was 20th overall, out of 581 runners, in a personal best 1hr 22min 2sec. Ben Blowes was next in 28th in 1:24.56, Marcus Gynn was 360th in 1:56.55 and Colin Almond 448th in 2:03.47.

Before the main race, Austin Taylor was second in the 1K

Juniors' Fun Run in 4min 34sec and first boy under nine.

Younger brother Harry Taylor was 53rd in 8.54.

5K Kevin Henry League fixture results:

3 Paul Holley 16:06, 14 Denys Olefir 17:04, 27 Sam Sadler 17:54, 28 Martyn Taylor 17:55, 41 Chris Gay 18:26, 45 Greg Davis 18:32, 48 Ben Jay 18:39, 51 Alex Cairns 18:42, 57 Simon Harris 18:59, 62 Jason Beeton 19:11, 78 Neil Williamson 19:30, 93 Steve Edwards 20:04, 97 Nick Conway 20:08, 99 Ursula Ransom 20:13, 107 Joe Richer 20:29, 108 Jeff Almeida-King 20:30, 109 Paul Francis 20:35, 111 Chris Mesnard 20:43, 131 Adrian Whittle 21:23, 138 Clive Purbrook 21:38, 140 Natalia Allen 21:43, 177 Charles Shoolbred 23:12, 182 Effie Gray 23:39, 187 Carolyn Anderson 23:51, 191 Peter Cotton 24:08, 198 Isabel Vincente 24:18, 207 Mark Kent 25:05, Chris Aylmer 25:27, Michelle Barnes 26:06, Bee Chapman 26:50, Lynda McCormack 27:05.

O'Brien booked for Bertie

JOSEPH O'Brien is set to take the ride on Captain Bertie in the Beft-fred Cambridgeshire at Newmarket on September 28, should the horse make the cut.

O'Brien teamed up with trainer Jane Chapple-Hyam to great effect in the race last year, partnering Mull Of Killough to finish second in the ultra-competitive nine-furlong heat.

Captain Bertie has won one of his six starts so far this term and was last seen finishing third over a mile at Ripon last month.

He is rated 96, which puts him on a mark of 8st 10lb, and Chapple-Hyam is well aware he would not get in the race as things stand right now.

"I was pleased with how he galloped last Saturday and he's headed in the right direction," she said. "Joseph rode Mull Of Killough last year to finish second so it's nice to have him.

"We're not 100 per cent in the race. We need five to come out at the moment but I don't know that David Livingston would run off 10st so that could put the weights up and allow Joseph to ride.

"Godolphin have six in there still and William Haggas has five so hopefully a few will come out and allow us a run. I would be disappointed if we didn't get in.

"The question mark is whether he will get the nine furlongs, but his run at Ripon suggested he will."

Godolphin's racing manager Simon Crisford offered Cap O'Rushes as the best-value option of the trio bidding to land his team a sixth Ladbrokes St Leger at Doncaster this Saturday.

The Gordon Stakes winner is more than twice the odds of Godolphin's shortest-priced challenger, Libertarian, and also bigger than Secret Number.

"Secret Number is a nearly horse, he doesn't quite manage to win on the big occasion. I'd be surprised if he was good enough," said Crisford.

"We bought Libertarian with this very much in mind and it has taken him a long time to get over that run. If you said is he going to be the sixth St Leger winner for Godolphin, I'd say the jury's out.

FANTASTIC FUGUE: The Fugue with owner Lady Madeleine Lloyd-Webber

National sport latest at www.cambridge-news.co.uk/sport

He's got a lot to prove.

"Excess Knowledge is a short price and Cap O'Rushes is an unconsidered outsider. We beat him at Goodwood, although people will say Excess Knowledge was an unlucky loser.

"I'd say of our three, he's the most interesting contender by some way - at the prices."

John Gosden, seeking a fifth St Leger victory, confirmed James Doyle will have his first Classic ride as Khalid Abdullah's retained jockey aboard Excess Knowledge.

William Buick will partner stablemate Feel Like Dancing, the Bahrain Trophy winner.

It was a good day for both Gosden and Godolphin last Sunday.

Godolphin's Lost In The Moment came from last to first to claim the Group Two International Bosphorus Cup for Godolphin at Veliefendi in Turkey.

And Gosden's The Fugue reversed recent form with Al Kazeem as she claimed a first Group One victory in mixed company with a dazzling display in the Red Mills Irish Champion Stakes at Leopardstown.

The trainer said: "She is in the Arc. Sometimes you can get fast ground there. I think it was like that when Sea The Stars won, but last year it was bottomless. It gets a little specialist on bottomless ground.

"She's in the Prix de l'Opera and if she doesn't run over the Arc weekend, it would be the Breeders Cup again."

A tilt at the William Hill Ayr Gold Cup could be on the agenda for the James Fanshawe-trained Hallelujah after her thrilling victory in the Bettfred Garrowby Stakes at York.

Fanshawe's patience in waiting for some ease in the ground paid dividends as the 7-1 chance struck by a nose on her first start for 72 days, with Mince just a head back in third.

"I've never had a winner at Ayr, but it's a great prize so we will see how she is. It's less than two weeks away. If the ground is soft up there and she's all right, it's very tempting," he said.

Grainger hails depleted side

NEWMARKET manager Kevin Grainger was delighted with his side's performance as they drew 2-2 away to Gorleston in Saturday's Thurlow Nunn, Premier Division game.

Grainger's squad had been hit by injury and unavailability, and further pull-outs on the morning of the game saw Newmarket travel with just 13 players.

They fell behind to a Joe Bell goal, but Deakan Napier responded before they took the lead on the hour thanks to Ross Paterson. Gorleston later levelled through Christy Finch.

"When we've got a squad of 21 players, it shows you what we were missing," Grainger said. "It's a good result and we've shown we can compete with the top sides in this league."

Ben Coe's first two goals for Mildenhall helped them keep up their pursuit of the league leaders as they secured a 4-1 win at home to last season's runners-up Brantham.

"I'm really pleased for Ben because he has been playing well and he had been a bit frustrated he hadn't scored yet," said manager Christian Appleford. "It's nice for him to get his first goal and it eases a bit of pressure on him, not that there was any pressure on him anyway."

Burwell high as a Keyt after Bury win

JEFFREY Keyt peppered the boundary in Burwell's 136-run thumping of Bury St Edmunds in the Gibbs Denley East Anglian Premier League.

The No 5 batsman cracked 11 fours and three maximums in his knock of 84 as he paved the way for the visitors to run out comprehensive victors.

Burwell captain Paul Summerskill won the toss and chose to have a bat, but the hosts had the better of the opening exchanges and they were reduced to 34 for 3.

But Keyt helped turn things around as he put on 63 with Kiran Adhav (22) and then shared a 71-run partnership with skipper Summerskill (35).

Keyt's innings included hitting Justin Bishop for 18 runs in one over, although the bowler had the final word by eventually bowling the batsman.

There still time for a 57-run stand between Summerskill and Henry James, who made 39, as Burwell put 265 all out from 61.5 overs on the board.

Tom Huggins was the pick of the bowlers with 4 for 55 for Bury, who got to 97 for 3 in reply.

But the wheels really came off for the hosts at the hands of Adhav and Shaftab Khalid.

The home team lost their last seven wickets for only 32 runs as they crumbled to 129 all out in the 41st over.

Adhav ended with figures of 4 for 46 from his 14.3 overs and Khalid bagged 3 for 26 from 11 overs, with Alistair Allchin's six overs costing 30 runs and bringing him no reward.

Tom Westley played his part in Mildenhall defeating Elmstead by 40 runs in Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship, Division One.

The Essex all-rounder was at the crease for the first time since damaging a finger in his county's match against England before the start of the Ashes, and his 48 helped them post 181 all out.

Westley then snared 2 for 16 and James Holmes bagged 4 for 28 to ensure Elmstead were removed for 141.

There was also success for Mildenhall II as they shocked promoted Worlington in Division Two.

Martin Taylor was the pick of the bowlers with 4 for 48, while Richard Ford's 37 and Jimmy Watson's 45 were the highlights in Worlington's 179 for 7.

And the afternoon sun eased the batting conditions as Frans Bester (89) and Andy Squire (65 not out) enjoyed themselves, getting the hosts to 180 for 2.

Lakenheath recovered to successfully reach 164 for 8 in a win at Long Melford.

And Gavin Jones' 50 and two wickets apiece for Dan Baigent and Tim Catley could not prevent Exning succumbing by four wickets at Easton.
